The Certification Group brings together a wealth of expertise acquired from their management team, auditors and staff which makes us ready to meet the ISO certification needs of any organisation.

All Certification Bodies are required to work to a standard designed by The International Organisation for Standardisation, or ISO. This standard is ISO 17021:2015 the International Standard to which a Certification Body should operate to ensure utmost professionalism and impartiality when auditing an organisations management systems.

As a registered Independent Certification Body, we are proud to say that we conform to this standard.

To ensure we are operating to this standard, our own systems are regularly, independently audited by an external Accreditation Body and for this purpose we are registered with ASCB.
